MESSAGE

From the Treasurer, Governing Body

Dear Friends,

I am delighted to share with you an overview of the various activities of the Gramavikas Peace Foundation (GPF) for the financial year from April 1, 2025, to March 31, 2026. Together, we have been able to reach out to many individuals in need and, in our own small way, alleviate their suffering. This report provides a glimpse into the extensive work carried out by GPF.

For the past 28 years, the Gramavikas Peace Foundation has been working diligently in the state of Andhra Pradesh. Over the last two years, we have expanded our reach to Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Karnataka, New Delhi, and Punjab. At GPF, we firmly believe that education has the power to transform lives. Through our initiatives, we have helped hundreds of individuals continue their education, achieve their goals, and build better futures.

GPF is a highly transparent organization built on strong accountability. We are meticulous in maintaining thorough documentation and financial integrity.

I would like to express my deep appreciation to our committed operations team, dedicated staff, cohesive partner communities, and our auditors for their assiduous service.

A Special thanks to BENEVITY, our deepest gratitude goes to Benevity for their invaluable platform. The Benevity Causes Portal provides a secure, centralized database that empowers global nonprofits like ours to efficiently register, track, and receive disbursed funding through trusted, localized partners such as the Online Giving Foundation.

Brief Report of Child Development Program – School of Life (“Vidyajyoti” Centres)

The Child Development Program, School of Life, also known as “Vidyajyoti” centres (meaning light of knowledge), is currently being implemented across 5 states and 9 locations.

In FY 2025–26, a total of 684 children were enrolled in the School of Life program, while 5,393 children have received lifetime educational support through the initiative.

Childhood is often considered the most beautiful phase of life an age of joy, safety, and freedom. However, for many children, especially those out of school, this is far from reality. Challenging socio-economic conditions, lack of awareness, and communities where education is not prioritized often force children to drop out.

Education plays a vital role in shaping not just a child's future, but also their present. Schools provide a safe and nurturing space where children can learn, express themselves, and grow. In contrast, children who drop out are more vulnerable to child labour, early marriage, and even trafficking.

Gramavikas Peace Foundation is committed to supporting children from disadvantaged backgrounds in continuing their education, with the hope of building a brighter and more secure future. Currently, the program directly supports over 684 children across 5 states in India through its Vidyajyoti initiative,.

Our education centres focus on the holistic development of children ensuring they grow not only academically, but also as healthy, aware, confident, and responsible individuals. Alongside students, we actively engage with teachers, parents, and communities to create a supportive ecosystem where children can truly thrive.

Despite numerous challenges, these young learners continue to persevere, dream big, and work hard. With your continued support, we can empower them further by providing accessible, quality education and helping turn their dreams into reality.

Life Cycle Approach - We believe that education is both a means and an end to a better life a means because it empowers individuals to earn a sustainable livelihood, and an end because it enhances awareness on essential aspects such as healthcare, social behaviour, and individual rights, ultimately shaping responsible and informed citizens. Education is one of the most powerful tools that helps children build a strong foundation, enabling them to break free from the cycle of ignorance, poverty, and disease.

However, our experience on the ground has shown that child education cannot be addressed in isolation. The well-being of a child is deeply connected to the conditions of their family. When families face economic hardships, children are often forced to drop out of school and contribute to household income.

Recognizing this, our programs have evolved as a natural extension of our education initiatives. While children and their education remain at the core of our work, our life cycle approach ensures that we also support the needs of their families and communities. By addressing these interconnected challenges, we create an enabling environment where children can continue their education and thrive.

FY 2025-26: SoL & School Academic Performance

Total Enrolled Children in SoL ■ No. Children Cleared School Exam ■ Result Awaited

The School of Life (SoL) program continues to demonstrate strong academic outcomes among its students. 99% of children successfully passed their annual examinations, with 47% scoring above 80% marks, reflecting a high level of academic achievement.

All 30 students of Grade 10 passed, each securing above 73% marks, marking a significant milestone in their educational journey. Additionally, 10 children were enrolled in formal schools after joining the SoL program, highlighting successful mainstreaming efforts.

Results for 4 Grade 12 students are currently awaited.

Nutritious Meals for Children in School of Life (SoL)

Providing nutritious meals to children enrolled in the School of Life (SoL) program is a vital part of our commitment to their overall well-being. Adequate nutrition not only supports physical growth but also improves concentration, learning outcomes, and regular school attendance.

Many children in the program come from underserved communities where access to balanced meals is limited. Through this initiative, we ensure that they receive wholesome and nourishing food, helping them stay energized, focused, and motivated to learn.

By integrating nutrition with education, we aim to build a strong foundation for children's holistic development and a healthier future.

In the past year, a total of 116,897 locally prepared nutritious meals were provided to SoL children across India, significantly contributing to their well-being. These meals included items such as kheer, chana, eggs, fruits, lentils, and buttermilk, ensuring both variety and essential nutrition.

Life Skills Sessions

This year, the School of Life (SoL) program conducted a series of life skills sessions aimed at supporting the overall development of children. These sessions covered important topics such as mental health, career counselling, good citizenship, good touch and bad touch awareness, environmental responsibility (including no plastic use and air quality awareness), and positive social behaviour.

Through these interactive sessions, children were encouraged to build confidence, make informed decisions, and develop essential life skills needed to navigate everyday challenges and grow into responsible individuals.

Scholarship Program

The Scholarship Program is designed to support students from economically weaker and marginalized communities, enabling them to pursue higher education, vocational training, and skill development courses with a strong focus on employability, merit, and financial need.

In FY 2025–26, the program reached 33 students across 3 states and 3 locations, in partnership with 3 mission hospitals. Since its inception in 2013, the initiative has supported 281 beneficiaries and 96.3% placement till now.

Success Stories

Meghna (Student)
Veda School, Palnadu

Project: School Wash and Community Project -
VEDA

"Water was once a daily struggle—unsafe, scarce, and unreliable. But thanks to Operation Blessing's RO plant at our school, we now have clean drinking water, safe and child-friendly toilets, and a renewed sense of hope for our future."

-Meghna

My name is Meghna, and I study at Vedas School. My mother, Madhavi, works hard every day in the market so we can have food on the table. But in our village, water has always been a daily struggle. There is no regular supply—if we are lucky, a tanker comes once a day. Even then, the water is not clean or safe. Many times, we fall sick from drinking it. Even the milk we drink spoils quickly because of the poor water quality.

At school, the situation used to be just as bad. Water was irregular, and we often had to stand in long lines just to fill a small bottle. Many of us brought water from home, but at home, water came for only one hour a day. This meant I often spent long hours in school without drinking water.

The lack of water also made our school toilets dirty and broken most of the time. It was very difficult for us, especially girls, to use the toilets during school hours. The conditions were unhygienic and unsafe, and we felt uncomfortable.

Gramavikas Peace Foundation understood our needs and stepped in with a WASH project with the support of Operation Blessing that changed everything. They set up a Reverse Osmosis (RO) water purification plant in our school, ensuring we now have clean, safe drinking water all day. We can also take safe water home for our families. Now, our family and the entire community get clean drinking water at our doorsteps from this RO plant.

They also built new, safe, and child-friendly toilets for our school. Now, our toilets are clean, hygienic, and comfortable to use, making school a much better place for learning.

These projects have been a blessing not just for us as students but for our families and the entire community. Thanks to Operation Blessing, we now have health, dignity, and a brighter future.

Yamini (Parent)

Village Bhuvanapalli, Eluru

Project: School Wash and Community Project -
Infant Jesus English Medium School

“With clean water from Gramavikas Peace Foundation / Operation Blessing, my daughters no longer fall sick, and I can work regularly. This support has given me relief, strength, and hope for our future.”

-Yamini

My name is Yamani, and I am 23 years old. Life has not been easy for me. I lost my parents in childhood and never knew them, and in 2023, I lost my husband in an accident. Since then, I have been living alone with my two daughters—Kalyani, 7 years old, and my younger daughter, 4 years old, both are studying at Infant Jesus English Medium School. They are my only hope and strength.

To run the household, I work as a daily laborer, but my biggest struggle was always drinking water. Every day before leaving for work, I had to walk long distances to fetch water from ponds or buy it at high cost. Carrying heavy water container was difficult, and sometimes I had to hire a rickshaw. The expense was unbearable, and still, the water was not safe. My children often fell sick from waterborne diseases, which meant I could not go to work regularly, further pushing us into hardship.

Everything changed when Operation Blessing implemented a clean drinking water project through Infant Jesus School. Gramavikas Peace Foundation installed a system that now provides safe, purified water not only to the schoolchildren but also to families like mine. Today, we receive clean water right at our doorstep whenever we need it.

This has brought immense relief to my life. My daughters no longer fall sick frequently, which means they attend school regularly and stay healthy. I too can go for work without interruption, ensuring we have food on the table. For a woman like me, with no family support, this gift of safe water is life-changing.

I am deeply grateful to Operation Blessing / Gramavikas Peace Foundation and the school for giving us health, dignity, and hope through clean water.

Jessy Rani and family

Village Gavinivaripalem - Bapatla

Project: Gavinivaripalem Community Water System

"We prayed every night for clean water, and Jesus heard us. Now, our village has water, and Amma smiles again."

-Jessy Rani

"A Drop of Hope" — Through the Eyes of Jessy and Prudhvi

Every morning in Gavinivaripalem, a small village in Chirala of Bapatla district, the first sound that wakes us isn't birds or school bells — it's our mother's call, "Jessy, Prudhvi, come quickly, we have to fetch water before the tanker comes!"

I'm Jessy Rani, 11 years old, and my brother Prudhvi is 13. Our mother, Yesu Rathnamma, is only 28, but her face already shows the tiredness of years spent worrying about water. My father, Mariya Raju, leaves early every morning to work as a daily-wage laborer. His income just manages to feed us, but the biggest struggle in our home has always been safe water.

There's no clean water source nearby. We depend on a private tanker that comes only three times a week. Each can costs ₹30, and Amma says we need at least two every day. On tanker days, we all wait under the hot sun with our empty cans, afraid we might miss it. When the tanker doesn't come, we go to the canal and sometimes open well to fetch water. The water there is muddy and smells bad, but we still use it. After drinking it, we often fall sick.

Many mornings, Amma can't cook breakfast because there's no water. Sometimes, we go to school hungry. Prudhvi tries to help Amma carry the heavy cans, and I fill small bottles and buckets. By the time we're done, the sun is already high, and Amma looks exhausted.

Every evening, our family kneels together to pray to Jesus, asking Him to give us clean water. Amma always says, "God listens to the cries of His children." We held on to that hope even when life felt heavy.

Then, one day, God truly answered our prayers. A team from Operation Blessing (OB) and Gramavikas Peace Foundation (GPF) came to our village. They said they would build a new RO Water Plant so everyone could have clean, safe drinking water. Amma's eyes filled with tears — this was the miracle we had been praying for.

We watched the workers install the system, and every day we thanked Jesus. Now, clean water flows near our home. No more muddy wells or long waits under the sun. Amma finishes her chores peacefully, cooks tasty meals, and even has time to sit with us.

Now, the plant is ready, and clean, safe water flows near our home. No more waiting for tankers, no more dirty well water. Amma finishes her chores on time and even joins us for breakfast. We go to school every day, healthy and happy.

Prudhvi helps fill bottles for neighbors, and I help Amma cook tasty meals. Our home feels peaceful now.

As Jessy says with a bright smile, "Now we drink clean water every day. Amma doesn't have to worry anymore. Our village feels happy again."

M . Swathi

Village Gavinivaripalem - Bapatla

Project: Gavinivaripalem Community Water System

"This RO water project will bring great relief to us. Our children will stay healthy, and we won't have to struggle for water anymore. We are truly thankful to the entire team of Gramavikas Peace Foundation and especially Operation Blessing"

- Swathi

In the peaceful village of Gavinivaripalem, Chirala Mandal of Bapatla district, a new chapter of hope will soon unfold for 22-year-old M. Swathi and her family. Swathi lives with her husband, Jaya Raju, a hardworking daily wage laborer, and their two young children. With his modest earnings, the family will continue to manage their daily expenses and children's needs. Yet, one problem will remain constant in their lives — the struggle to find safe drinking water.

For years, the villagers of Gavinivaripalem will continue to face severe water scarcity. The few available water sources will be insufficient and contaminated, making them unsafe for drinking. This will lead to frequent health issues, particularly among children and elderly people. Families like Swathi's will have no choice but to depend on private tankers or travel long distances to fetch potable water.

Each water can will cost ₹10, and families will need at least two cans a day. This expense will be difficult to manage for daily wage earners like Swathi's husband. When the tanker fails to arrive, which often happens, Swathi will be forced to use the muddy, unsafe water from the village's open well. She will worry constantly about her children's health, as they will often fall sick from consuming contaminated water. On many mornings, she will send her children to school without a proper breakfast, struggling to manage both water and food with limited resources.

However, hope will soon reach Gavinivaripalem. Operation Blessing (OB), in collaboration with the Gramavikas Peace Foundation (GPF), will take a remarkable step to solve this long-standing problem. They will install a new RO (Reverse Osmosis) Water Purification Plant in the village. Once operational, this community water system will provide clean and safe drinking water to every household at an affordable cost.

This project will ensure a continuous supply of purified drinking water, reduction in water-borne diseases, improved public health and sanitation, and savings in both time and money, especially for women and children who will no longer need to fetch water from distant sources.

The people of Gavinivaripalem, including Swathi and her family, will look forward to this transformation with immense gratitude. They believe this initiative by Operation Blessing and Gramavikas Peace Foundation will not only improve health but also bring dignity, relief, and lasting change to their lives and community.

Hasina and Family Jhansi

“Clean Water, A Blessing of Hope in Lilvani Kalinjara”

In the remote village of Lilvani Kalinjara, Banswara, daily life for families of the Bhil tribal community has always been a battle for survival. Most families depend on cultivation and daily wage labor, with both men and women working side by side in the fields to earn a meager income. Opportunities remain scarce, education levels are low, and many younger families migrate to neighboring states in search of work. The elderly are left behind to care for children, cattle, and fragile mud homes.

But among all these struggles, one problem overshadowed everything—access to safe drinking water. For years, Hasina and her family relied on a lake and a filthy drain. The lake was used for bathing, washing, cooking, and even drinking. Animals entered it freely, contaminating the water further. Its foul smell spoiled their food, while her children regularly fell sick with stomach pain, typhoid, and skin rashes. Much of Hasina's time was consumed in fetching water and nursing sick children, forcing her to lose precious workdays and sinking the family deeper into poverty.

Her son Arpit recalls the toll water scarcity took on his childhood: “Our house was far from the lake. Every day we walked more than a kilometer to fetch water. I could hardly attend school, often sick from drinking contaminated water. My body was covered in rashes, and typhoid struck me again and again. My parents worked hard as laborers to feed us, but all their earnings went to hospital bills.”

With no solution in sight, families prayed for relief. Their prayers were answered when Operation Blessing installed a hand pump in Lilvani Kalinjara. For the first time, safe drinking water was available right at their doorstep. Families also learned simple home-based water filtration methods, ensuring safer water for their children.

The change was transformative. Children grew healthier, attended school regularly, and families no longer lived in constant fear of sickness. Women saved hours of walking under the scorching sun and had time for work, cooking, and caring for their families.

With gratitude, Arpit says: “This hand pump has brought us clean water. Now I no longer fall sick, I can attend school, and even my rashes are healing. We prayed to Jesus, and He sent this gift through you. Thank you, and thank you, Jesus!”

For Lilvani Kalinjara, clean water is more than survival—it is health, dignity, and renewed hope.

Sarla and Family Jhansi

“Strength and Hope Restored in Pargi Fala Dungari Hamirpura”

In the remote tribal hamlet of Pargi Fala Dungari, Hamirpura village, Rajasthan, life has always been defined by hardship. Sisters Daya and Sarla, both widows, lived together with their children and grandchildren, surviving on meager daily wages. Their children, too, were forced to migrate to Gujarat as laborers, just to keep the family fed. But among all their struggles—poverty, uncertain work, and loneliness—the greatest burden was the absence of safe drinking water.

For 18 long years, the families relied only on a dirty pond and an open well as their water source. They knew it was unsafe, but there was no alternative. “We women, even with small children, walked miles under the scorching sun to fetch water,” Sarla recalls. “Carrying heavy pots left our legs in pain. And still, the water made our families sick with stomach pain, skin rashes, and constant illness.”

Ravina, a young mother, shares how the lack of water robbed them of dignity: “Because the water was dirty and foul-smelling, we couldn't wash our clothes or bathe regularly. Many days we remained unhygienic, weak, and unhealthy. I feared sending my child to school, knowing sickness would come back again and again.”

Everything changed when Operation Blessing installed a hand pump in their hamlet in collaboration with Gramavikas Peace Foundation. For the first time, clean water was just a few steps away. The team also taught the families simple home filtration methods with sand, gravel, and charcoal, ensuring safer water for their children.

The transformation was immediate and profound. Women no longer walked miles in the heat. Children became healthier, free from constant sickness. Families could bathe, wash, cook, and drink safely. Most of all, they regained their dignity and hope.

With tears of joy, Ravina shares: “This hand pump has completely changed our lives. Now we have enough clean water for all our needs, and I can send my child to school without fear of sickness. We never dreamed of such a gift. Today we live with peace, health, and happiness. Thank you!”

For the families of Pargi Fala Dungari, clean water is more than a resource—it is freedom, dignity, and the beginning of a new life.

Nagina's story is a powerful example of resilience, determination, and the transformative impact of education.

Coming from a financially struggling family, Nagina faced significant hardships from an early age. Her father, who used to sell vegetables, lost his livelihood during the pandemic, leaving the family in deep financial distress. Her mother is a homemaker, and with four siblings—two sisters and two brothers the burden of survival often overshadowed the importance of education.

Due to these challenges, Nagina had to drop out of school after the 8th grade. At one point, she completely stopped attending school, as her family, influenced by conservative community beliefs, did not prioritize education for girls. It seemed as though the doors to learning had been permanently closed for her. However, Nagina carried a strong inner desire to study, grow, and build a better future for herself.

Everything changed when she learned about the SoL Program and decided to visit the centre. When she shared her aspirations, her determination was evident. Recognizing her potential, our team decided to support her. We reached out to her mother and conducted multiple counseling sessions to help the family understand the importance of educating their daughter. After persistent efforts, they finally agreed.

Nagina's journey was not easy. She encountered several challenges along the way, but with continuous guidance, encouragement, and her own dedication, she persevered. She was prepared for her 10th-grade examinations and successfully passed with an impressive 72%. This achievement marked a turning point in her life.

Encouraged by her success, we supported her in securing admission to the 12th grade, allowing her to continue her educational journey.

As Nagina progressed, her transformation began to influence those around her. Her story became a source of inspiration within her community, especially for young girls who had once believed education was out of reach. Today, Nagina is not only pursuing her studies but also volunteering at the SoL center, where she teaches younger children. She has become a role model, admired by many.

The impact of her journey is clearly visible. Earlier, the SoL center had around 50 students. Following her success, enrollment has grown to over 75 students. More importantly, there has been a noticeable shift in parents' mindsets, with many now willing to educate their daughters. She aspires to become a lawyer in the future.

Nagina's story is not just about one girl's success; it is about breaking barriers, changing perceptions, and creating a ripple effect of hope and opportunity in the community.

Nagina says: "I am very thankful to Gramavikas Peace Foundation and Operation Blessing. You truly helped me and opened the doors of my education. Your support changed my life and gave me hope for my future."

Kalpana, a 15-year-old girl from Chandan Hole, faced a major setback in her educational journey at a very young age.

Coming from a family of four siblings, her education was abruptly disrupted after the 5th grade due to a fake certificate issued by her previous school. Because of this issue, no other school was willing to grant her admission. With no way forward, Kalpana was forced to stay at home, and both she and her parents gradually lost hope that she would ever be able to continue her studies.

During this challenging time, our team connected with her family and stood by them with consistent support and reassurance. We remained in regular contact, encouraging them and assuring them that Kalpana's education could be restarted.

The journey was not easy. There were several obstacles, particularly related to documentation. However, we guided the family through the entire process helping them arrange the correct documents and personally visiting schools to advocate on Kalpana's behalf. Through persistent efforts and discussions with teachers and the school principal, we were finally able to secure her admission. Today, Kalpana is studying in the 8th grade, marking a significant milestone in her journey.

A true turning point came when she joined the SoL program. At SoL, she received continuous guidance, academic support, and encouragement, which helped her rebuild her confidence and regain her enthusiasm for learning. Slowly but steadily, she is moving forward toward a brighter future.

Her parents are deeply grateful to SoL for restoring hope in their daughter's life and giving her a second chance at education.

Kalpana's story reminds us that even when everything seems lost, the right support and timely intervention can transform a child's future and reopen the doors to opportunity.

Vishal, an 11-year-old student of grade 6, has shown remarkable strength and determination despite facing significant challenges from a very young age.

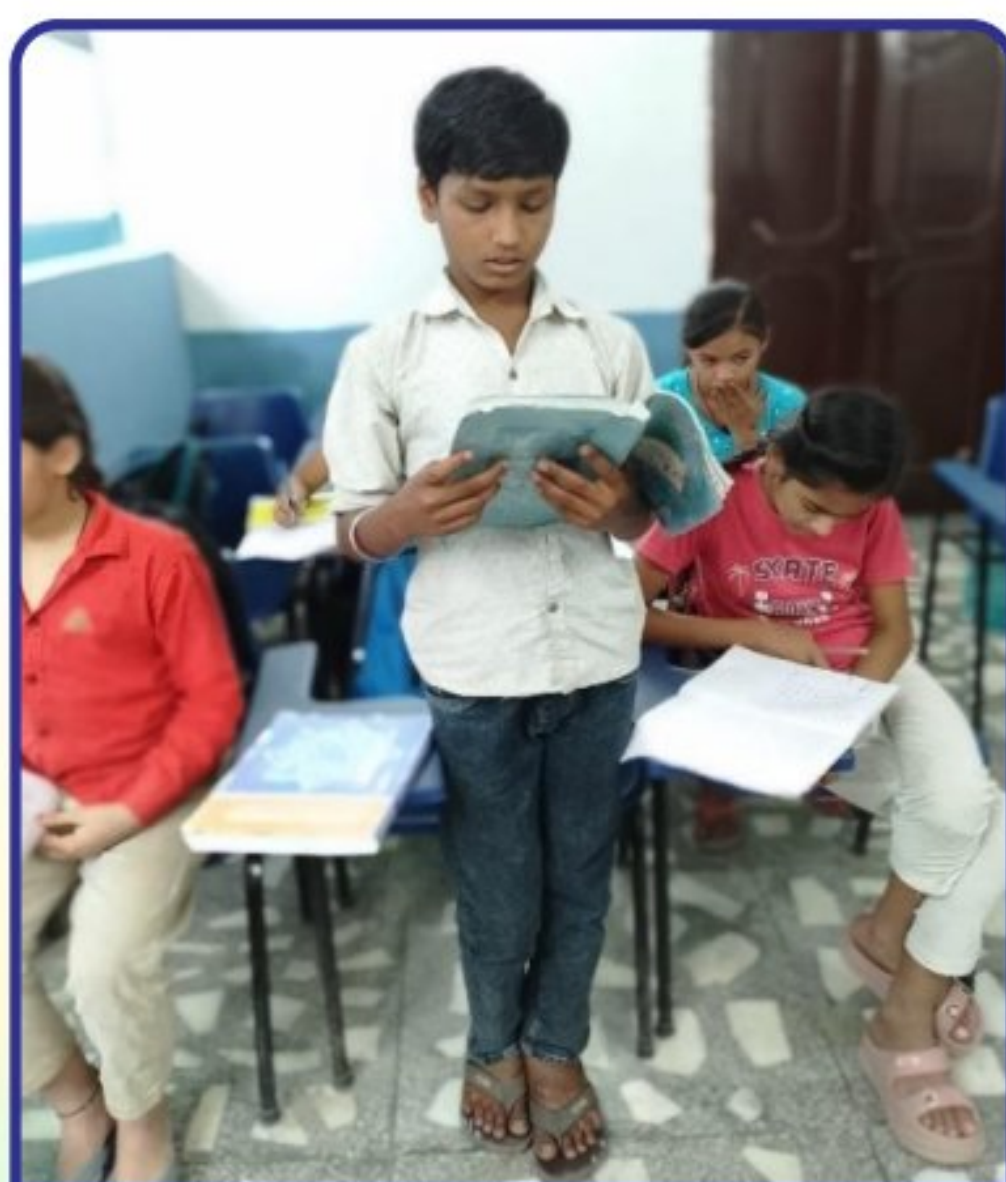

After losing his father early in life, Vishal's world now revolves around his mother, who has been his constant source of support and inspiration. The family's financial condition is extremely fragile, with his mother working in multiple households, taking up cleaning and domestic chores to make ends meet. Vishal, along with his two brothers, lives in Chandan Hole, an area with limited resources and opportunities.

Growing up in such difficult circumstances, Vishal has faced many hardships. Yet, he has never allowed these challenges to define or discourage him. Instead, he has held on to his dream of building a better future.

A turning point in his life came when he joined the SoL program. At SoL Vishal gradually developed a strong interest in studies. The nurturing environment and the care shown by the teachers played a crucial role in his growth. They support him not just academically but emotionally as well especially during moments when he feels the absence of his father. This warmth and encouragement have given him a renewed sense of strength and belonging. With continuous support and his own dedication, he is steadily progressing both academically and personally.

Driven by love and responsibility, Vishal works hard with a clear purpose to support his mother, ease her struggles, and bring happiness into her life. He believes that by becoming a good and successful person, he can honour and repay the sacrifices she has made for him.

Vishal's journey is a testament to resilience, hope, and the life-changing impact of the right guidance and support at the right time.

Duddu Suvarna, Priyadarshini SHG, AK Nagar

“ From Silent Meetings to Empowered Voices”

For many years, the women of the Priyadarshini DWACRA Group gathered regularly, but their meetings had a single focus—bank loans. Discussions revolved around borrowing, repayment, and debt management. Although these topics were important, the meetings never went beyond financial concerns. There was no encouragement for personal growth, no conversations about health or hygiene, and no opportunity for women to express themselves or build confidence. Many of us, including me, never imagined these gatherings could be a space for learning, support, and transformation.

This changed when the Gramavikas Peace Foundtion became a part of our journey. Their involvement marked a turning point not only for our group but also for each woman individually. The Foundation brought with it a new energy—a sense of possibility that we had never felt before. What started as small monthly meetings soon blossomed into meaningful sessions filled with awareness, knowledge-sharing, and empowerment.

Through these sessions, we learned about topics that were previously neglected or misunderstood. We gained awareness of personal hygiene and women's health, which deeply impacted our well-being. We were taught the importance of saving money, even from small incomes, and how disciplined financial habits can improve our lives. Sessions on cleanliness and household management inspired us to maintain healthier surroundings for our families. But the most profound change was internal.

The GPF helped us discover our self-confidence, leadership abilities, and the strength we never realized we had. Women who once remained silent during meetings—including myself—now speak with clarity, courage, and conviction. We have begun to view ourselves not just as wives, mothers, or caretakers, but as leaders, decision-makers, and active contributors to our families and communities.

Today, I proudly guide others in my group—something I once thought was impossible. Many of us have stepped out of our comfort zones and are shaping a new identity built on dignity, awareness, and empowerment.

The transformation brought by the GPF Foundation is not just visible—it is deeply felt. We now aspire for more. I sincerely request that these monthly meetings continue and grow in scope. Additional capacity-building programs, along with regular health camps for women and children, would greatly support our ongoing progress.

The GPF Foundation has been a source of light in our lives. Now, we are ready to carry that light forward—into our homes, our streets, and our future.

“Saving Money and Keeping a Good Health through small Kitchen Garden”

My name is Bonasi Ratamma, and I am a member of the Ratna Self-Help Group in AK Nagar. Earlier, I used to spend money every day to buy vegetables from the market, and it was becoming difficult to manage our household expenses with the rising prices. When Gramavikas Peace Foundation and the Operation Blessing team supported us with kitchen garden seeds that helped me to grow vegetables like Beans, bitter gourd, water gourd. I decided to make a vegetable garden beside my house by setting up a small pandhiri. With regular care and watering, the plants started growing well, and soon we began harvesting fresh vegetables at home.

Now, I no longer need to go to the market to buy vegetables for our daily cooking. We use fresh, healthy, and chemical-free vegetables from our own garden. Whenever there is extra produce, I take it to the local market and sell it, which gives me additional income. This extra earning supports our household needs and gives me confidence that I can also contribute financially to my family.

Because of this garden, my family is eating more nutritious food, and our health has improved. I feel proud and happy that a small space beside my house has become a source of food, income, and hope for us. With the support of GPF and the Operation Blessing team, my life has changed for the better, and I feel more self-reliant and confident about the future.

SHG Sanitary Napkin Feedback

My name is Dakkumalla Sunandha, and I live in Gavinivaripalem village. I am a member of the Rajeev Self Help Group (SHG) in our village. I work as an agricultural labourer, and my husband is a carpenter. We have two children—a daughter in 4th class and a son attending Anganwadi. When I first heard about the SHG activities in our village, I did not think they would have much impact on my life. However, I was curious and decided to attend the meetings to understand how the SHG functioned.

During the meetings, we learned about several important topics, including menstrual hygiene and personal health. I gained knowledge about sanitary napkins and the difference between market brands and those produced by our SHG members. Initially, I purchased sanitary napkins from the market but hesitated to use them because they were uncomfortable. Listening to other members' experiences encouraged me to try the SHG sanitary napkins. Last month, the GPF and OB Team distributed SHG sanitary napkins, and I was pleasantly surprised—they were very comfortable, safe, and suitable for regular use. Using these sanitary napkins has made me feel confident about taking care of my health.

Now, I use SHG sanitary napkins every month and share this information with other women in the village. I encourage them to prioritize their health and hygiene, just like I have. The SHG meetings have become an important part of my life. They provide a safe space for us to share experiences, ask questions, and learn from one another. I feel more empowered, informed, and confident thanks to the GPF and its initiatives like the sanitary napkin program. I sincerely hope these activities continue so that more women in our village can benefit and experience these positive changes.

Impact Story

Mushroom Cooking Demonstration

The Self-Help Group (SHG) members requested a practical demonstration on mushroom cooking, which was organized on 12th October 2025 at Gavinivaripallem. The session, conducted by GPF, was intended to enhance nutritional awareness and introduce livelihood-oriented culinary skills. During this program, Mrs. Donempudi Shakunthala actively participated and demonstrated commendable enthusiasm throughout the demonstration. Her involvement reflects the increasing interest among women in incorporating mushroom-based nutrition into their diets and exploring related income-generation opportunities.

Participant Experience

During the session, Mrs. Shakunthala participated enthusiastically, showing keen interest in the hands-on cooking process. She appreciated the practical and easy-to-follow guidance provided by the trainers, noting that the demonstration was highly informative, relevant, and beneficial for daily household cooking.

She highlighted that the variety of mushroom recipes taught during the demonstration increased her confidence in preparing nutritious dishes at home. The simplicity of the recipes made her realize that mushrooms can be incorporated into regular meals with ease.

Key Impact Reflections

1. Encouragement to Adopt Nutritious Food Practices

Mrs. Shakunthala shared that the session inspired her and other women to include mushrooms more frequently in their daily diet, recognising the significant nutritional value mushrooms offer.

2. Motivation for Income-Generating Activities

She expressed that learning multiple mushroom dishes can open pathways for small-scale business opportunities, such as preparing and selling mushroom-based food items within the community.

3. Recommendation for More Training Sessions

To build greater awareness and boost confidence among women, she suggested that such demonstrations should be conducted frequently. She believes regular sessions will help more women gain skills, explore livelihoods, and improve their families' nutritional practices.

Conclusion

Mrs. Donempudi Shakunthala's feedback is constructive, encouraging, and showcases a strong interest in adopting and promoting mushroom-based livelihood activities. Her perspective highlights the importance of practical demonstrations in empowering women with knowledge, skills, and confidence.

This impact story demonstrates how community-based nutrition and cooking programs can create meaningful, long-term change by motivating women to pursue both healthy food habits and income-generating opportunities.
